Dr. Ric Grummer, Balchem Animal Nutrition & Health, will discuss insulin resistance during the transition period, highlighting both the good and bad aspects of NEFA mobilization. Most people believe that higher NEFA in the blood is only BAD and that cows can become too insulin resistant. But, the part of the NEFA story about supporting lactation is often overlooked and perhaps under-utilized to optimize milk production.