7. Would you recommend this experience?

Yes. It is an excellent place to start gathering veterinary experience. When I volunteered there, the veterinarians and technicians were very friendly and helpful. They want you to learn and succeed, but they will also work you hard. You will clean cages, walk dogs, feed cats, clean surgical instruments, and possibly vaccinate and watch surgery. You will also become familiar with euthanasia procedure used in animal shelter. Having experience viewing and understanding euthanasia will be critical for getting into veterinary school.

8. Further Comments

The staff rotates very frequently at the shelter I worked at in Harlem. Whenever I come back to visit it seems like there is a completely new staff of veterinarians and technicians.
